*The power of terroir

Tonnellerie Bernard has been crafting barrels using traditional French techniques since it was founded in Southwestern France in 1936. Having joined the Charlois Group in 2017, Tonnellerie Bernard now benefits from a privileged supply of premium French oak staves from some of the most prestigious forests in central France.

The blending of skills

The experience of the FORESTRY EXPERT: sustainable forest management over perpetual seasons guides the finest oaks to maturity, often beyond 150 years. The French Forestry Commission (ONF) is our principal supplier.

The knowledge of the STAVE MILLER: the savoir-faire of the Maison Charlois brings a multi-generational commitment and over 200 years experience to the production of oak staves.

The selection of oak and the preparation and natural seasoning of the staves is adapted to the specific requirements of the cooperage.

The craftsmanship of the COOPER: combining traditional techniques with modern equipment creates barrels of the highest quality hand crafted for the aging of the finest wines.

The expertise of the VITICULTURIST: the deep understanding of the vines reveals the best qualities of the fruit.

The artistry of the WINEMAKER: relating talent and seasoned judgement to the nuances of each vintage yields choices that coax the optimum expression from the terroir.

It is the harmony of these diverse skills that creates exceptional wines.

Bernard Barrels

Tonnellerie Bernard proposes a range of barrels made from a selection of fine grain oak staves naturally air seasoned for at least 24 months. The Bernard “Délicatesse” barrels are made from specially chosen oak staves chimney stacked in order to provide maximum airflow and thus a more consistent seasoning. Tonnellerie Bernard offers a range of meticulously controlled and balanced toast levels.
